Every year, GD Goenka Public School, Sarita Vihar charts a new success story and is a recipient of the Times School Survey Award – being ranked first in the Challengers category for four times in a row – along with the accreditation by the British Council,” informs school’s management. “The feat is a result of the management’s futuristic vision for the new-age schools. Competency-based learning is encouraged and the skills are inculcated through a multi-disciplinary approach. Hands-on learning allows the learners to explore various subjects with real-life application. Such exercises are best expressed during the Annual School Exhibition – Impressions and Expressions, Ek Bharat Shreshtha Bharat activities, the display boards presentation, among others,” the management adds.

The management further says, “The school clubs allows learners to develop the art of collaboration along with augmenting their critical and analytical thinking. Global exposure is facilitated through International Exchange Programs, World Scholar’s Cup and Model United Nations simulations. The school management is also conscientious of ensuring the educators get regular training and workshops to adapt to the new-age teaching pedagogies. It also brings in experts from various fields such as sports, academics, storytelling etc to update and engage the learners.”
