I am special
I am me"☺

Each child is blessed with his / her own individuality. To value the uniqueness and special qualities of every child, the students of classes KG to II of G D Goenka Public School, Sarita Vihar, celebrated the 'I am special day' on April 25, 2016.

The students of made a special craft, by designing their personal hand mirrors. They drew their reflection on it. Each child got the opportunity to hold the mirror and discuss with his/her classmates how each one of them is different. They discussed their likes and dislikes, special talents and qualities which define them.

A special song, 'I am special and unique' was also sung by the students. This activity inculcated the value of 'self-appreciation' among students thereby boosting the morale of each student.

The students were also told the stories of Lord Ganesha and Lord Hanuman, both with different heads but with their uniqueness and distinct qualities.

This day signified the importance of each child being unique and realizing that we are all gifted in various ways and above we should learn to respect ourselves.
