

School aims to nurture young learners for AI-driven future

View of the school

In today's world, where technology shapes every facet of life, understanding Artificial Intelligence (AI) has become indispensable for students. Recognising this, GD Goenka Public School, Sarita Vihar, has embraced AI not merely as a subject but as a life skill – integrating it across learning experiences to help students innovate and analyse with purpose,” says the school’s management.

According to the team, the school’s annual inter-school literary festival, Goenkan Literazzi, stands as a testament to this fusion of creativity and technology. Each year, the event celebrates language, expression, and imagination while encouraging students to think beyond convention. Continuing this legacy, the 2025 edition – “ByteScribes 2.0: The Next Chapter of Imagination” – invited participants to reflect on how technology continues to shape expression, ethics, and innovation in the modern world.”

As per the team, over 200 participants from leading schools across Delhi-NCR joined, making the event a vibrant celebration of creativity, intellect, and collaboration. “The school’s commitment to AI-driven learning was further exemplified at the International Computing Olympiad (ICO) 2025, where our students earned international acclaim by securing First Prize in the AI Challenge for Sustainable Climate. The winning team, aptly named AI-Terminators – comprising Class 9 students Atishay Jain, Adit Chauhan, and Akshaj Hasteeer – developed an innovative model titled EcoAudit, an AI-powered platform promoting environmental awareness and conservation.”

By nurturing each child’s creativity and confidence, the school empowers students to reach their fullest potential, notes the team. They add, “Anchored by the motto ‘Thrive. For Life’, the school shapes young minds into capable, visionary leaders ready to embrace the challenges of tomorrow. We look forward to your child stepping into the world of GD Goenka, Sarita Vihar in the session 2026-27, where every learner is inspired to thrive.”
